Asheville Country Day

1970

In the year's frantic rush
We have perhaps forgotten
The best moments:
A quiet chess game, the struggle
to win, a moments ecstacy,
A crowd of friends, the
beginning of a sketch
Remember them now in pictures

Our school, a silhouette against the snow
The corridors, dark void spaces from a distance.
Stange—when the whiteness dissappeared
Three hundred lives were revealed
In constant frenzied activity.

She has given to her students the knowledge of another language, a precious gift were it even by itself. Yet to all of us outside the classroom she has given something greater — in a common tongue we have shared her gay sense of humor, her open heart and mind, her indefatigable spirit. These things will long remain with everyone who knew her. For this we dedicate the record of our year 1969-1970 to Mrs. Simone Tanner.

Elle a donné a ses etudiants la connaissance d'une autre langue: un don precieux en soi-même. Mais a nous, en dehors de la classe, elle nous a donné quelque chose de plus . . .

avec une langue commune, nous avons partagé sa gaieté, son grand coeur et son ame genereuse, son esprit indomptable. Ces souvenirs resteront longtemps avec tous qui l'ont connue. Donc, nous dédions notre histoire de cette annee a Mme. Simone Tanner.

Time,
Space.
Synonomous, both as endless
As a circle.
Man has conquered space.
Time, everlasting, will not be overcome.
Human nature will not allow it . . .
Because there is not the time.

CHRIS ABELL

And I tell you it was they, the Greeks, who led us here.

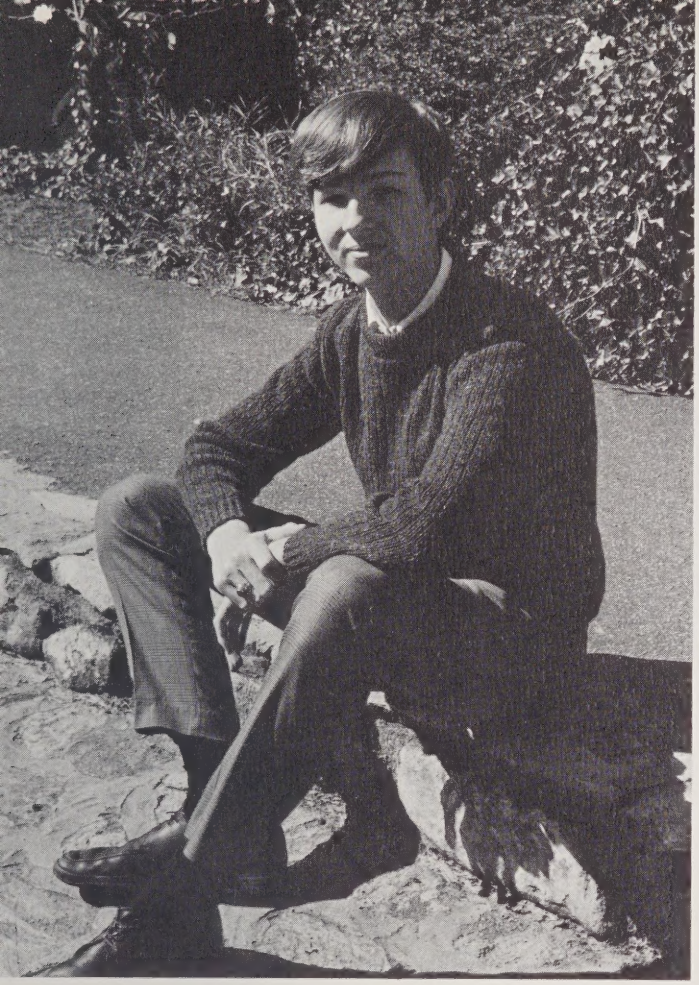
ALEX ALEXANDER



Good - night

JOHN BROOKS

It is up to us, the youth, to guide our country, to serve the world, and to become the brothers of our father's enemies.

RAY FARMER

We laugh, we cry,
We are born, and we die.
Who is to reason
The how and the why?

SUSAN FULLERTON

Love is life. It is one of the most beautiful feelings. Poppy petals fall—
Softly, quietly, calmly—
when they are ready—
Smile

FRANCINE GREENBERG

Out of all this struggling to be,
in time I shall only remember
laughter, singing, childrens'
voices, and the hands that often reached to help me in those first hard, lonely years. The rest will fade, meaningless, insignificant—
in the battle to come

LISA HAMILTON

Though the experience may be bitter, it is always sweet to remember—

WARREN HARRIS

Drive carefully!

BILL KAGHAN

It is man's nature to create and to destroy. He has created a powerful and beautiful world, only to produce pollution and war. He has made friends and enemies. However, man's greatest accomplishment is his ability to face all his troubles and still look to the future for peace.

CHRIS LARSEN

I am born new each morning, for the old Me dies each night. To be myself, I must end each day with the thought of a brighter tomorrow, as Winter ends Nature's Beauty—with the promise of May.

CONRAD MADDEN

Peace on earth: good will toward men . . . and women.

DICK MILLER

Each day is as long and as rewarding as you wish to make it.
To get the most out of a day,
do something for the good of humanity. All HOPE
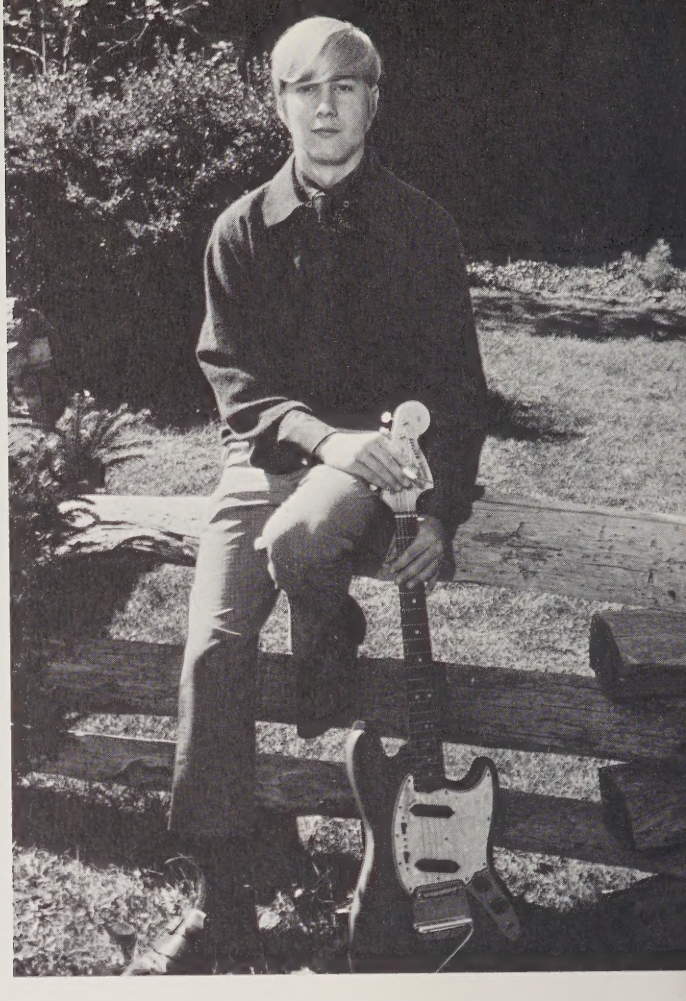
is not lost!

EDIE PLIMPTON

If you're not with the one you love—
Love the one you're with.

RICK POSTON

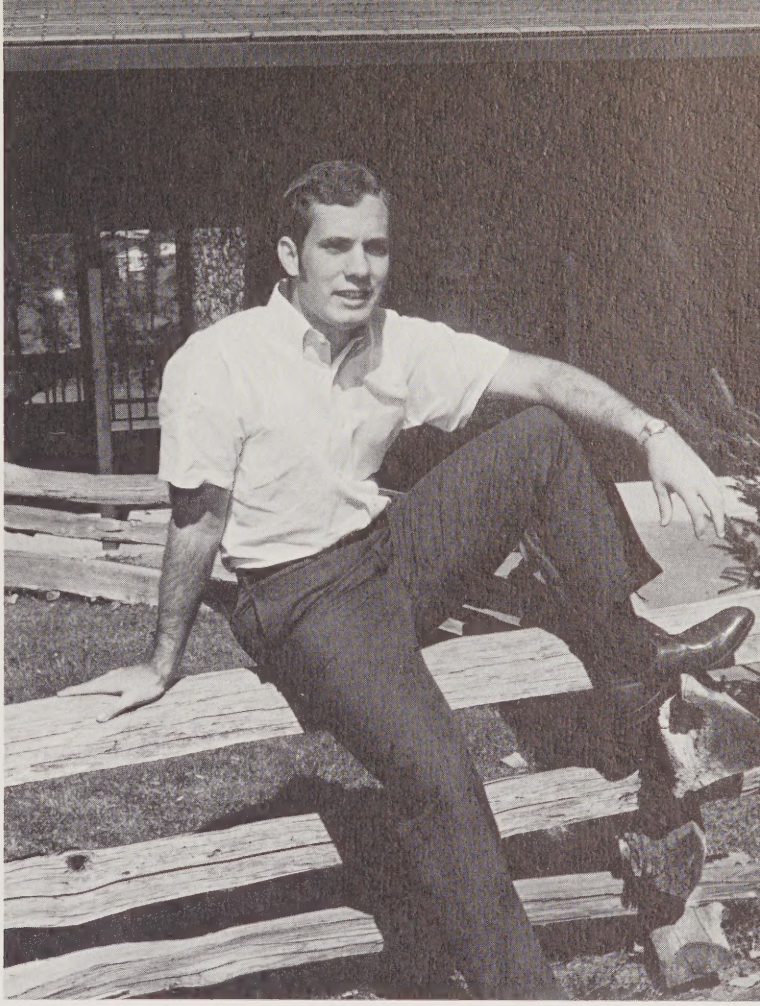


Wars, dissent, hatred, racial violence—these are things of the present, facts that, unfortunately, must mar our lives. Yet, to be strong, to stand up in the face of crisis and fear, these are the important values, those by which a person's contribution to his family, his nation, and the world, are measured.

ANDY REED

In every friend we leave, we leave a part of ourselves, the best part.

FRANK ROACH



Even Newton made an important discovery in a prone position.

LAMAR STINNETT

In this crazy, mixed-up world with wars and other unpleasant occurrences, it's sort of nice to know that one thing at least stays constant, and unchanging. That is time. As I sit on the door step of Charley, the thought comes to me that time is always and never changing.

DAN WESTINGHOUSE

'Tis men like me that make the world go 'round.

Buy no mattress until you've checked the advantages of Koolfoam® 100% latex foam!

Koolfoam is superbly comfortable

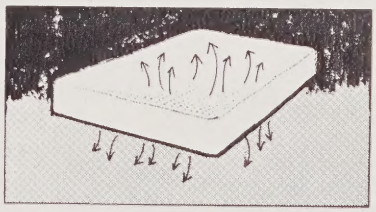
Koolfoam mattresses conform to every body size, weight and shape to provide full, buoyant support for comfortable, revitalizing sleep. Koolfoam won't sag or dip; returns to its original shape when you bounce out of bed in the morning . . . on the right side . . . feeling fresh.

Koolfoam is convenient, carefree

Koolfoam mattresses are lightweight and flexible. Makes bed-making a snap. Easy to turn over or move from room to room. Can be folded without damage for moving around corners and through doorways. No springs to squeak, break or wear out. No padding to lump or mat down.

Koolfoam is refreshingly cool

Koolfoam mattresses contain thousands of tiny surface air vents that actually permit the core to "breathe" with every body movement. Stale air breathes out—fresh air breathes in. The mattress stays as fresh as a spring breeze and lets you sleep in cool "Air-Conditioned"® comfort.



Koolfoam is hygienically clean

Mattresses made with Koolfoam are non-allergenic—odor-free and mildew-proof. They are antiseptically clean and Sanitaire(RM) treated.

Senior Will

CHRIS ABELL: To Charlotte Chakales, I leave a pint of gin. To my brother, Timmy, I leave my place in the smoking area. To Katherine Smart, I leave my nose in hopes that she will not get any more colds. To Tad Wright, I leave my left fore-finger in hopes that he will not run a glass tube through it.

ALEX ALEXANDER: I hereby bequeath to Miss McCabe, one bottle of clandestine champagne to drink at drama. To Miss Holmes, my favorite Greek recipes and a bill for a phone call to Issie's Deli in Tel Aviv. To Mrs. Tanner, a recording of the Greek National Anthem to play at lunch. To Mrs. Moore, one Tammy Winette wig and some Fab-U-Lashes. To Charlotte, some more unbreakable china. And to Andy, George, and Peter, switches and ashes to put in all the mill socks at Christmas.

JOHN BROOKS: I, John Brooks, leave to Mrs. Lord sixty-nine grasshoppers. To Col. Lampert, I leave six squirrels for his Rambler. To Bob Kaghan, I leave an FCC license after it expires. And, to Mr. Stewart, I leave the crazy world of Arthur Brown.

RAY FARMER: To Mrs. Lord, I leave my alias, Harry Vederchiard. To Dianne Youngblood, I leave my privilege of attending French class twice a day.

SUSAN FULLERTON: I will all my memories of German Shepherds to Mrs. Tanner. To Brenda Madden, I leave my basketball and cheerleading; and, to her little sister, I leave my crown. Finally, to Myron P. Owenby, all my love.

FRANCINE GREENBERG: To Charlotte Chakales, I leave my china. To Tom and Trent, my soul and fox trot record. To Marsha Sawyer, my parking meter near the Plaza. To Peter Gillis, an undate. To Paul Morro, my road signs and an indoor distillery for his room. To Kitty Grimsley, a book entitled, "How to Get Around." And last but not least, to Charles L. Clemmons, everything! !

J. WARREN HARRIS: To Kitty Grimsley, I leave a full scale statue of Eddie Story that she can carry around in her pocket book. To Mr. Abell, I leave innumerable strips of rubber in the parking lot, and to the faculty (as of this writing) I leave!!

BILL KAGHAN: I will my 100,000 comic books to Miss McCabe's American Literature class. I will my nicknames "Fritz" to Mitchell Lerner, "Calhoun" to Trent VanBlaricom, "Moe" to John Hoskins, "Jumbo" to Peter Chakales, and "Coogan" to my brother. I will my hair to Duke Power and Light Company.

CHRIS LARSEN: To Miss McCabe, I leave a satisfied feeling. To Mrs. Griffin, I leave the Spanish Club and the memories of Spanish class. To Pedro, my outstanding Spanish vocabulary. To Paul Morro, I leave my half of the handsake. To Miss Holmes, I leave a mountain of fishsticks covered with grits.

CONRAD MADDEN: I hereby bequeath one aluminum can to SFL. Also, I will to Jack Crowe, the LSU school spirit in hopes that it might help Georgia. To my sisters, I leave the family name. And, to anybody who is dumb enough to try, I leave a few precious moments with Wallace Dawkins.

DICK MILLER: I, Dick Miller, will to Matt Harris my attainment of height so he won't have to be as tall as Stretch. To Brenda Madden and Barbara Woodard, I leave my great ability of driving. And, to a friend of mine, I leave a match and a stick of dynamite, hoping he will see the light.

EDIE PLIMPTON: To Alex Alexander, I leave a box of Man-Sized tissues, pens and pencils as he wishes, and a full tank of gas. I leave to Miss McCabe memories of coterie meetings. To Chris Larsen, a paid photography bill. To Cleve DeVault, I will one deformed chicken coming before the egg in hopes that others will see his point. And, to Andy Reed, some Charleston lessons.

RICK POSTON: I, Rick Poston, leave the REAR end of my 1969 Tempest to Peter Gillis for use in the FRONT end of his 1967 Camaro. To Mitchell Lerner I leave a life time subscription to Playboy.

ANDY REED: To Mrs. Frances Lord, I leave memories of her life on the stage, along with an unpaid bill from Cagle's for a new piano. To Mrs. Moore, I will a two month vacation in Ocala, Florida. To Mrs. Coleman, a half dead giraffe to cut up as she wishes. Finally, to Sam, Parthenia, and Miss Holmes, a mountain of stale carrot-raisin salad.

FRANK ROACH: To Sam and Parthenia, I leave my six months of green salad. To Mrs. Moore a fishing trip with two other couples. To Fran, a bottle of bubbles. To John Brooks I leave the money to gold plate his tongue so when he dies he can leave it to posterity.

LAMAR STINNETT: I, Lamar Stinnett, leave all my good "Senior qualities" to Mark Dickerson. To Mrs. Ramsey, I leave one book of telephone messages. I leave one apple to George Psoinos. To Cleve DeVault, I leave my "superior" knowledge of chess and the pleasure of a long drive to and from Hendersonville each day.

DAN WESTINGHOUSE: To Paul Morro, I leave my freedom, 'cause that's probably what he needs most. To up coming Advanced Biology classes, I leave my weak stomach. They'll love that. I leave my wild Volkswagen to anyone who has unlimited time and money to spend on it. I leave my Army jacket to Ann Moser. She'll find some marvelous use for it . . . like heating fuel.

DAVID WRIGHT: I, David B. Wright, leave my ability of playing basketball to Tom Roberson, who needs it. To Jack Crowe, all my luck through the year. To Dianne Youngblood, my ability in math. And, last but not least, I leave this school.
